SPEEDS DOWNWARD
COURSE OF VALUES.One of These Factors Was Announcement by Large Steel Manufacturer of Big Wage Cut

New York, Feb. 24.—The stock market was very nervous and unsettled today, with a downward course of values. The course of the fairly active session was marked by a general decline in prices, with a few exceptions. The market was influenced by the announcement by a large steel manufacturer of a big wage cut, which was expected to have a depressing effect on the steel industry and the economy as a whole.

Chief among these was the announcement that one of the largest of the independent steel manufacturers in the Pittsburgh district, following the example set by its competitors, had ordered a 20 percent wage reduction effective March 1.

This was accompanied by a general decline in the stock exchange, with a "dreaded" market, or severe price cutting would ensue, but in well-informed quarters such action was regarded as highly probable, or at least premature.

Another unfavorable incident was the suspension of the quarterly dividend on Ajax Rubber. Stocks, equipment, tobacco shares, were introduced in the decline, with sundry specialties, including the mail order group, at net losses of one to five points, but reactions among rail were relatively unimportant.

Call money again held at the fixed rate of seven percent and time funds were available in moderate amounts for the shorter dates.

The future of the irregular bond market was the decline of Liberty 3 1/2's to below 81. Most other domestic and foreign issues were variable lower, especially industrials.

ported Betrothed

WELL-KNOWN PRINTER DEAD.

D. E. Gilmore of Cooperstown Claimed—Other News at County Seat.

Cooperstown, Feb. 24.—Dorr E. Gilmore, a well-known Oswego county printer, died this morning at his home on Delaware street, after a long illness due to a general breakdown in his health. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, with burial at Richfield Springs.

Mr. Gilmore was born in the town of Exeter on December 17, 1856, and when a youth learned the printer's trade in the office of the Richfield Springs Mercury. Forty-one years ago he married Miss Anna H. St. John of Richfield Springs, and they came to Cooperstown to live, where ever since their home has been at the print shop of the Oswego Republican, and when this was consolidated with the Oswego Farmer, he became an employee of the Crist plant. Later, he was attached to the Free-man's Journal, holding his last position with this company. He was well known both in and out of the printing craft of the county, and many friends will regret to learn of his death.

Mr. Gilmore was a member of the Cooperstown Methodist church, and was always active in church work, being for nearly 15 years superintendent of the Sunday school. He was also a member of Oswego lodge, No. 125, Free and Accepted Masons.

Besides his wife, he is survived by his widow and two children, Newton E. D. and Mary A. Gilmore, living at home; also by a brother, H. A. Gilmore of Schuylers Lake.

Suffers Sprained Ankle.

While on her way to her work in the plant of the Wilcox Publishing company this morning, Miss Leila M. Ames slipped on the icy sidewalk at the corner of Main and Hooner streets and fell, badly spraining her right ankle. She is confined to her board and making a good recovery.

Cooperstown's Fine Showing.

Cooperstown has made a fine showing in raising money for the Moore and Child feeding fund. The village's quota was $2,500, but Chairman Harries L. Cooke has already turned over $4,558.54 over to Mr. Hoover. The record is one that probably can be equaled in few places, and all who helped make the campaign for the starving children a success are deserving of just praise.

Baraca-Philathea Banquet.

The annual banquet of the Baraca and Philathea classes of the Cooperstown Baptist church was held this evening at Templeton lodge, with about 200 persons in attendance. The occasion was a particularly notable one, being the anniversary of the formation of the Baraca class in Cooperstown 25 years ago. Mrs. Charles Nichols, wife of the then pastor of the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Nichols, who now reside over a Baptist church in Herkimer, were present at the banquet to night and both gave brief addresses in which they expressed their appreciation of the fine growth of the church organizations. Other speakers were Rev. Dr. Charles Herbert, Rust of Scranton, Pa., who gave an inspirational address on the future of the church; Rev. Leroy Halbert of Cooperstown, who acted as toastmaster; Mrs. Harry Pasker of Philadelphia, and Lieut. Col. Nelson Gopen of Cooperstown, who spoke in behalf of the Baracas. The occasion as a whole is a memorable one in the history of the Cooperstown Baracas.

Removed to Hospital.

Harry Yule of this village was removed to Thanksgiving hospital this afternoon, suffering with an acute attack of appendicitis. He was to have undergone an operation tonight.

MAIL ROUTES READVISED.

Eds Too High for Two of the Three Routes Entering City.

The post office authorities have rejected all bids for carrying two of the three star mail routes entering this city. It is stated, announcing that the proposals received were all too high and have directed that the routes be re-advised. The present contracts expire July 1, so that there is still time for another effort to secure bids.

The Morris route, as stated, has been awarded to Joseph Lee. The line from Harpersfield to this city now operated by O. J. Buck of the Stamford-Ontario bus line and for which he submitted a bid as did others is to be re-advised as is also the route from Delhi to Oneonta, the bid of Glenn Green, who now conducts the line being rejected as high.

Mr. Green was the successful bidder for the route between Delhi and Bloomville. He announces that he will put on a new 16-passenger bus on that route and make more frequent trips. The terms accepted have not been announced.

Men Who Repair Skeletons.

There are two kinds of skeleton-menders—the bone surgeon and the skeleton-assembler. At schools, medical colleges, and students of anatomy require an accurately constructed skeleton to aid in their work.

All the bones must be properly assorted and carefully put together. They are strung on fine wires. The skeleton-assembler must also pick out of the hundreds of odd bones that are sent him the 200 or more bones that belong to the particular individual being reconstructed. It is not an easy task, and the price of skeletons is justified by the amount of work required to construct them. Popular Science Monthly.

Little Law in Albania.

Except in a few communities in the South, the Albanians live in tribal organizations, in scattered communities in the mountains, where each man defends his home and his rights with his rifle, which he never lays down when out of doors. They are governed by a sort of common law, which is known as the Law of Lek. Lek was a more or less traditional law given by the once powerful family of Dukagjin.

Telling the "Passing Bell."

The passing bell was rung in English pre-reformation times for the dying as well as after death. The practice grew out of the belief that devils and evil spirits troubled the dying and lay in wait to torment the soul when it had left the body. After the reformation the passing bell was discontinued, although tolling after a death is still a custom.

More farmers are wearing Goodrich Rubber Footwear today than ever before.

The reason for this tremendous increase in users is simple—Goodrich wears longer than other footwear, and farmers have found it out. Naturally, when a man buys a pair of Goodrich "Hi-Press" and they last so much longer and are so much more comfortable, and so materially cut down that big footwear bill—he's going to tell his friends.

More and more farmers are finding out that Goodrich won't leak, peel or come apart—it can't, for it is made in One Solid Piece—that's the Goodrich way.

Look for the Red Line 'round the Top when you buy. 60,000 dealers are now selling Goodrich.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR
That Mighty Serviceable Truck

There is this about the Ford open-top truck that helps it growing in popularity, namely, the good reports which the owners of Ford trucks spread abroad among their friends and acquaintances.

There is no truer testimony of merit quite so strong as the testimony of personal experience. It is not long after a Ford open-top truck is sold in a community until other sales of the same truck follow, because "this works do follow it."

Why, there is a reason. Yes, there are many reasons. The Ford open-top truck was built to serve and to satisfy. It carries all the Ford virtues: lightness in weight, simplicity in design, strength in construction, flexibility and durability—besides it has the lowest first cost and brings the lowest operating expense in the truck market.

It is just as useful just as necessary on the farm as it is in the city. It is just as necessary to the underground manufacturer, contractor, commission man, and others in the city as it is necessary for such concerns to have a place to do business in—on other words, the Ford truck is a general utility, and because of this fact and the fact of its universal economy it is in a class by itself.

We will be glad to take your order for one of more Ford trucks and will give you fairly prompt delivery. You will also have the assurance of that reliable and experienced assistance which will be with a valuable factor in the service of Ford cars, trucks, and buses. $2,700, 2000 cc. 6. 10. 12. 16. 20. 24. 28. 32. 36. 40. 44. 48. 52. 56. 60. 64. 68. 72. 76. 80. 84. 88. 92. 96. 100. 104. 108. 112. 116. 120. 124. 128. 132. 136. 140. 144. 148. 152. 156. 160. 164. 168. 172. 176. 180. 184. 188. 192. 196. 200. 204. 208. 212. 216. 220. 224. 228. 232. 236. 240. 244. 248. 252. 256. 260. 264. 268. 272. 276. 280. 284. 288. 292. 296. 300. 304. 308. 312. 316. 320. 324. 328. 332. 336. 340. 344. 348. 352. 356. 360. 364. 368. 372. 376. 380. 384. 388. 392. 396. 400. 404. 408. 412. 416. 420. 424. 428. 432. 436. 440. 444. 448. 452. 456. 460. 464. 468. 472. 476. 480. 484. 488. 492. 496. 500. 504. 508. 512. 516. 520. 524. 528. 532. 536. 540. 544. 548. 552. 556. 560. 564. 568. 572. 576. 580. 584. 588. 592. 596. 600. 604. 608. 612. 616. 620. 624. 628. 632. 636. 6

TEACHING MANNERS IN SCHOOLS

Discussion of the subject of teaching manners in the public schools in the bulletin of the New York state department of education may be accepted as an indication of the need of such instruction along more effective lines. While politeness is something which may be acquired through instruction during the school years, it probably is fostered in the child who is most polite has had teaching along that line before attending school age.
If home training is neglected, the task of the teacher will be greater.

Many children are lacking in the principles of politeness—a grace which is not inherent, but is acquired by imitation of others and by external teaching of the things that make for polite conduct. The rules of the Boy Scouts have done much to overcome deficiencies in politeness in boys. The Scouts teach that it is not unmanly to exercise these graces in conduct which many boys appear to regard as effeminate. The Scouts are taught that politeness is one of the first evidences of manliness, and they are recurrent to their obligations if they regard it lightly.

Why should not politeness be made a part of the instruction of every grade school? For a few years, at least, it might be necessary to teach politeness in the high schools, for it is not certain that the child of conduct would find everything to his liking in the higher classes. At many of our persons might learn something worth while through the things taught to their children in the schools on politeness.

THE LESSON OF THIEF.

One does not have to hark back many months to recall the period when industrial workers were pointed out as the best customers of the stores that dealt in silk shirts and other articles of apparel that were once regarded as among the luxuries. There is no consolation to persons out of employment in telling them that they should have saved part of their money when they were earning the highest wages in the history of American industry, yet that is exactly what should have been done.

Thousands of persons permitted themselves to be deceived by the industrial activity which prevailed during and immediately after the World war. But the so-called "rainy day" arrived in spite of the optimism, or perhaps indifference, of a large number of workers, and they find that they are poorly prepared to stand the effects of industrial depression. A few dollars saved when employment was at high tide would enable these persons to maintain themselves now in reasonable comfort.

It is too late now to provide against the present financial emergency, but there is no reason to believe that other emergencies will arise in the future, just as there have in the past.
The practice of thrift is commendable at all times. It becomes a principal with the successful man, and in the case of wage earners especially it provides a safeguard against the day when employment may not be so remunerative, or, in the case of many thousands at present, it ceases entirely.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS

Ankle, Throat and Soul.
"Thrice is he armed who hath his quarrel just," observed Shakespeare.
Yet surely not intending to encourage the virtuous to suppose that a well-administered blow on a just man's head will not hurt. Ernest Thompson Seton, talking in "Pittsburgh," alludes to the existence of certain completely decadent tribes in East Africa "who are the most moral people in the world;" he gives us to infer that the world's soul declines on more considerable than a divine sun. But, like the just man's armor, the pure soul's mumuk in parvo wardrobe ought to be considered rather as an expression of faith than as a practical shelter.

The instinct of the day may tend to put seriously into practice the idea that the lecturer has formulated. Perhaps the brevity of the fashion show current reflects a motive of spiritual uplift in the thrashing wearers. But let them not think that sheer virtue, however sufficient a cloak against bold eyes, will turn the edge of a winter blizzard or prevent cold ankles from starting up sore throats.—[New York Sun.]

Gassed.
Somewhere, in deep seclusion, three persons are suffering more than punges of regret. The three broke into a Uca bank and dynamited the outer door of a safe. Thereafter they departed so abruptly that they left behind an expensive assortment of bur-lar's tools and 35 cents of their own cash. The breaking of the safe door sprang a surprise trap on the visiting eggs and gave them a full strength dose of mustard gas.

Of all the diabolical inventions of the World war prison gas was considered the most degrading. Now even poison gas has proved its peace time utility. The ingenuity of some post-up Ucians has pointed the way to make the world safe for banks and bankers.— [Cleveland Plaindealer.] For Normal Prosperity.
The important step towards natural and stable prices remains in large part to be taken, namely, the reduction of wages. For example, there has already been a considerable reduction in the price of wheat, despite the farmers' resistance, but the price of wheat cannot become stable, or what is called normal, so long as the wages which the farmer must pay for his labor remain unreasonably high, that is, at war rates. Again, prudent owners cannot build so long as wages in all the building trades continue at their present exaggerated rates.

Work.]

ONEONTA-NORWICH BUS LINE

PETITION FOR PERMISSION ON
ONEONTA CITY STREETS
PRESENTED.

James A. Wild of South New Berlin and Warren D. Atwood of Norwich Promoters — To Carry Both Passenger and Merchandise the Plan.
There has been filed with City Clerk Close, to be presented to the Common Council at the next meeting, a petition by James A. Wild of South New Berlin and Warren D. Atwood of Norwich, for permission to operate over the streets of the city a bus line in connection with a route from Oneonta to Norwich.

According to the petition filed, it is proposed to start from the post office in this city and the route is intended to connect with the main highway, Morris road, at the 31st Street, Holmerville, South New Berlin to Norwich, terminating at the corner of Main and Broad streets in the latter city. It is planned to operate this line in connection with a line between Norwich and New Berlin, which has gone through the preliminary stages and will not be commenced in the early spring.

The petitioners propose to put on a bus with a capacity for 16 passengers and to carry merchandise also. They propose to make two trips each way daily. No mention is made of the rates of fare to be paid or the time on which it is expected the bus will be operated.

The petition was filed with Mr. Close by Attorney Arthur W. Morse of New Berlin on Wednesday. It will no doubt come before the Common Council at the next meeting on Tuesday evening. It is probable that a hearing will be had on the application, and it would not be surprising to see the attorneys for the steam railroads oppose it. It would unquestionably do considerable business between the two villages and to and from the two cities at the terminals of the line.

These lines are unquestionably valuable feeders to the cities which they serve and with two trips each way daily this line would bring many shoppers to this city daily.
Most of the route is over a macadam road and the few miles not now completed will be paved during the construction of either this year or next.
It is not probable that there will be any local objection except from the trolley company which now carries passengers and freight between this city and West Oneonta.

FORMER STAMFORD RESIDENT

Name of Woman Who Buried Mother's Body in Geranium Bed Sounds Familiar.

No doubt many persons in this vicinity have read with interest and some incredulity, the stories appearing in metropolitan newspapers of how the body of Mrs. Nancy Chamberlain, a Chicago woman more than 90 years of age, was found buried in a geranium bed at the rear of their home. Mrs. Chamberlain disappeared last July and her daughter and granddaughter refused to say where she had gone. They were taken into custody and finally confessed to burying the body in a grave they had dug behind their home in Chicago's artist colony, the daughter saying "We did not want profane hands to touch her; she is happy in her love grave."

Many Stamford citizens who have read the story believe it refers to a former resident of that village, a published photo being identified by some as Mrs. Jordan Chamberlain, who, about 20 years ago, resided in the building known as the "woolen mill," River street, Stamford, which mill Mr.
Chamberlain conducted for some time.
They had three daughters, Sallie, who married Lewis Irish of Oneonta and moved several years ago to the state of Washington; Lillian, who was an inmate of the Binghamton State hospital for the insane; and the third daughter, who is believed to be the one who buried her aged mother in the geranium bed.

NO NIGHT IN HEAVEN.

Presence of God Should Give Assurance. All Rev. Smith Asserts.

A fine religious meeting took place at the United Presbyterian church last evening in connection with the special Lenten services being conducted by Rev. L. E. H. Smith of Philadelphia. There was a larger attendance than usual and an increased interest in the message of the Gospel.
Mr. Smith took for his topic "No Night in Heaven," selecting a passage of scripture from Revelations, and declared an inspirational and hopeful message. Referring to the many doubts and misgivings that often permeate our minds concerning the life hereafter, Mr. Smith declared that the gospel plainly showed that all these would be removed in the life to come. The presence in Heaven of God himself was pleasant assurance that there would be no night there, the clergyman added, and all Christians should look with great hope and confidence to the life that is to come.
A consecration service was held in connection with the meeting and was responded to very heartily by members of the congregation. The meeting marked a new milestone in the progress of the revival and was truly a worth-while service. Mr. Smith expects to speak tonight on "Recognition in Heaven." This will be the final service of the week.

Fiske O'Hara at the Oneonta Tonight.

Tonight's attraction at the Oneonta theatre will be Fiske O'Hara, everybody's favorite, in his latest success, "Springtime in Mayo," described as a fascinating comedy of Irish wit, romance and song. Not in many moons has so much adored interest been created and it there is one vacant seat a mile away. "Springtime in Mayo" was built for the theatre presenter of exciting war, making mankind laugh and showing the world through rose-tinted glasses. It is typical of Ireland in flavor; graceful in romance, appealing in heart interesting in every action and, above all else, it is the most fascinating story ever told. Mr. O'Hara is said to play the role of an Irishman gentleman, with a sparkling flash and wit sing song and new songs, which that was at the heart of the matter. Fiske O'Hara in "Springtime in Mayo" should have every playgoer at the Oneonta theatre tonight, who believes in wholesomeness in stage entertainment, and who has the capacity to be amused by humor that is a reflection of life itself.

tle filled with Biwa highgrade tea, hot provement association and county agricultural agent, was introduced, who delivered an address upon "The Relation of County and State Organizations to the Other and to Private Enterprises." In view of the discussion resulting from the recent action of the Cooperation Chamber of Commerce, he is quoted in full. It follows:

Relation of County and State Organizations. One to the Other and to Private Enterprise.

The farmers of Otsego county and New York state, have built up a series of organizations, most of them within the last decade, that they might cope with certain existing problems. Agriculture has been last in the United States to follow this course.

The grange, a much older organization, came first. It administered from the outset to the social, educational and economic welfare of the farmer and his family. It has been within the grange that succeeding organizations have originated or were discussed by the farmer and his family.
Co-operating with governmental agencies, one organization after another has been formed by them. Others are still in the process of organization.
They are all needed. Mistakes have been made, nevertheless, tremendous progress has been realized. It would seem that the time had now arrived when the members of these organizations and the paid workers in them should pause long enough to take stock in trade. What is the function of each and what is the correct relationship one to the other?

The Farm bureau and the Home bureau are made up of county associations, the state department of agriculture and the federal department of agricultural. Finances come from the state and federal governments is administered through the state college of agriculture. The county government may or may not appropriate funds for these bureaus. It is a tribute to our board of supervisors that the Otsego bureaus found their birth within the board and in all probability it will continue to give them financial support so long as they function correctly.

It has recently been pointed out by both Dean A. R. Mann and Vice-Director of Extension M. C. Burritt of the college of agriculture that the governmental support received by the Bureaus give them a prestige and a power far beyond that which they could have without it. Governmental support is the backing of all people, no matter what their interests in life may be.

It has also been recently emphasized by former Senator Sage that the only excuse for such governmental support of agriculture and home economics is an increased food supply, including delivery to the consumer as economically as possible. When this function is strictly adhered to then governmental support of the bureaus cannot be considered as class legislation.

It is therefore just as much the function of the bureaus to demonstrate organization of forces to purchase raw materials economically and to deliver the product of the farm to the consuming public economically, as it is to demonstrate the use of time, certain seeds, pure bred sires, preservation of fruits and vegetables, etc. It is not the duty of the employed agents of the bureaus to take any part in the actual buying and selling of such supplies or products any more than it is for them to actually apply the time to the soil, plant adaptable seeds which may be recommended or preserve the fruits and vegetables.
These principles must be thoroughly understood because they cannot and must not be violated.

The Farm bureau has been a determining factor in the organization of the dairymen's league and of the Western New York Fruit Growers' Packing association, the selling agencies of New York state farmers which handle the state's leading products, namely, dairy products and fruit. It has rendered equal service in the organization of the Grange League Federation exchange. These are now great commercial organizations differing from private enterprise in that they do business without profit. The actual costs of operation are the only expenses which enter into consideration. Efficiency in service is the only problem, though complex, which con-

(National Crop Improvement Service.)
THE LARGEST part of the spring wheat average is now sown to five wheats of which the Marquis variety is the most popular. Blue stem is good but Velvet Chaff, Humpback and other wheats are now practically discarded on account of the poor returns which they have brought.

Owing to the fact that in the past ten years rust has ruined a large percentage of the spring wheat, farmers in the Northwest are looking for wheat which is not so susceptible to rust infection.

This has led a great many of them to sow durum wheat which does not make good bread flour. They argue that because it sometimes resists rust, to a greater extent than Marquis and the other good bread wheats, that it should be grown extensively.

This is a mistaken idea because Americans are not good eaters and, while there may be room for perhaps ten per cent of durum in the spring crop, if too much of it is raised, it cannot fail to react on the farmer and result in durum selling at a discount under spring wheat for the same reason that corn sells at a very much lower price relatively than wheat.

The government, the states, the millers and the better farmers are all agreed that in a normal year Marquis will vindicate itself in quality, quantity and price.

Repeated baking tests have shown that Marquis makes a loaf of very much finer quality than any other of the wheats; that the dumurs (Kubanka and Arnakta) will make a loaf fairly large in volume, but yellow in color and coarser in texture.

Red Durum wheat, called D5 or rust proof durum, has been introduced in some sections, but it will not make bread nor macaroni and its only merit is that it is heavy and is used in export to improve the weight of light and chaffy grain.

It is stated by the stations that if Marquis wheat is well cleaned, treated for smut and put in early, that it stands an excellent chance of escaping rust and it is generally the most profitable crop because millers are always willing to pay a premium for fine, heavy, dark kernelled Marquis.

The Northwest grows the best spring wheat in the world and flour made from it always sells for a better price; and practically all of it is distributed by the grain exchanges.

LABOR ORGANIZER QUILTS

POST HELD MANY YEARS

Binghamton, Feb. 23.—Fred E. Kennedy, for 40 years prominently identified with the union labor movement here, has surrendered his commission as general organizer of the American Federation of Labor and announced that his printing establishment is to be conducted on a mutual benefit plan.
His severance of the ties for years is in connection with the demand of Binghamton printers for higher wages, which, he declared, will mean that his company, the Kennedy-Morris corporation, must either go bankrupt or drop out of the union.

of the First Presbyterian church will serve their semi-annual missionary tea this evening from 5:30 until all are served. All are cordially invited.

—The ladies of St. James' guild will hold a rummage sale at the House electrical store on Elm street today, and will have numerous articles on sale.

—Doubtless many young couples from Oneonta will be present at the trolleyman's dance at Hartwick tonight. This is always the big social event of the season along the line of the S. N. Y.

—Practically every school teacher in the towns of Oneonta and Maryland was present at a conference held yesterday at the State Normal school under the direction of Superintendent J.
E. Frederick of this city. Matters of interest to the instructors were discussed, and several brief addresses were made. A similar conference will be held today at Unadilla for the towns of Unadilla and Otego.

—City Chamberlain C. H. Bowditch and Mrs. Vincent, assistant at the city offices, have both been very busy for the past two days receiving city, state and county taxes at the Municipal building, it being estimated that nearly $50,000 has been paid during the past two days. Yesterday was the last day for their payment at one per cent and it was Mr. Bowditch's belief that they were well cleaned up. Of course there are some who never pay until the time to advertise property for unpaid taxes.

—The speakers evidenced a knowledge of present-day affairs in their addresses that might be a surprise to their elders. There were numerous humorous episodes brought out by the speakers to the enjoyment of all, but their serious moments, the students clearly were conscious of the fact that the approaching years will be big ones in the history of our country, and the rising generation must not take the situation lightly. Especially well spoken were the references to Oneonta's needs, for example, the Y.
W. C. A. and other means of keeping our young people on the right path.

The evening was one that left the hearers with much to seriously ponder over in his mind, and as a social event was equally a great success.

The after-dinner program was under the supervision of Miss Thompson, head of the department of English, and she received and deserved many expressions of appreciation for the excellent manner in which the students carried out their parts. It was an enjoying of worth-while enjoyment to all.

A feature of the banquet was the combined menu cards and after-dinner program. These were original and nicely prepared, and gave the banqueters a little idea of the good work of the typewriting department.

Much interest has been aroused among local sport fans in the basketball game at the high school gym tonight between the O. H. S. first team and Crounse's Wanderers. The game is the first time this season that two local teams of this calibre have come together. Both managers have been giving their squads vigorous work-outs during the past week, and say that their men will be in the best possible condition.

The Wanderers have considerable of an advantage over the high school boys in that they are heavier and have had more experience on the basketball court, but the younger team hopes to make this up by speed and skill.
No doubt there will be a large crowd

O. H. S. SENIORS DINE

Fourth English Classes Hold Banquet
Last Evening. With Excellent Menu
Addresses Brought That Students Are Conscious of Problems Facing Country.

One of the most entertaining social events of the school year took place last evening at the Oneonta High school, when the classes in Fourth English comprising practically the entire Senior class, united in holding a banquet. The tables were placed in the Paul Revere corridor, and it was here that a jolly company of young people gathered early in the evening.
Several members of the faculty, including Principal Van Dusen were guests of honor.

The dinner was prepared and served by the domestic science department, under the direction of Miss Helen Crane, and was all that one could ask in the way of satisfying the inner man.
Grape fruit, mashed potatoes, creamed chicken, spring salad, rolls, coffee, lemon sherbet and cakes were the principal items on the menu, and the diners united in voting the meal "the best ever," with many thanks extended to the capable providers.

Following the dinner, Harlow Bender, acting as toastmaster, welcomed the guests to the evening, and introduced the speakers. The complete after-dinner program was as follows:
The High School Education as a Pre-

THREE YEAR NORMAL COURSE

Announcement of Change Effective Sept. 1, 1922. Made by Board of Regents at Albany Yesterday.

The State Board of Regents at Albany yesterday announced that the course in the Normal schools of the state had been advanced from two to three years, the change to become effective Sept. 1, 1922. The classes entering any of the schools the coming fall will be graduated and receive the State Normal diploma at the end of the two-year course, which will be made up from the new three-year curriculum. The Regents also adopted tentatively a new instrumental and vocal music syllabus by which students under private instruction may gain Regents' credit for their work.

Dr. Bugbee, principal of the Oneonta State Normal school, when questioned last evening relative to the change, said that his position is well understood at Albany and has undergone no change. With the demand for teachers far in excess of the abilities of the state institutions to supply, the present seems hardly the opportunity to increase the course to three years. At one time at a conference, when the subject was advanced, he was the only Normal principal to raise an objection to the change. It was at that time deferred.

Continuing, Dr. Bugbee said he was inclined to believe that it would be some little time before the demand for Normal graduates could be supplied and long distance announcements are not always wise. However, he added, Sept. 1, 1922, is still some distance ahead and many changes may be made before that time arrives.

ADDS ANOTHER LARGE HOTEL

H. M. Stanford of The Oneonta Acquires Lease of The Mellon, New Fire-Proof Hotel at Fall River, Mass., for Term of Years.

H. M. Stanford has been entertaining at The Oneonta hotel for a couple of days Charles M. Ketchum, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Fall River, Mass., and Mr. Dunn, a wealthy manufacturer and owner of The Mellon, a large and modern fireproof hotel in that city. Before their departure from the city yesterday afternoon Mr. Stanford had taken a lease of the hotel named for a period of years and will on March 1 open the hotel under his management.

The hotel is a large fire-proof building with 125 rooms and fine furnishings with an imposing round and a dining room with a seating capacity of 400 people. It has been closed of late, its owner declaring that it would never be leased. Recently, at the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce of Fall River, Mass., the hotel was provided a satisfactory party could be held.

The guest ended in Oneonta with the closing of the lease with Mr. Stanford. Messrs. Dunn and Ketchum recently visited the other hotels managed by Mr. Stanford and after the visit to The Oneonta, the one he owns, concluded to close the lease with him.

It certainly is very gratifying to Oneonta that the owner of so large a hotel, the only one in a city of 150,000 or more population and the only one with its dining room in the city, should come to this city to find a hotel manager to whom he is willing to entrust the property. Mr. Stanford has the option to purchase at the end of the first or second year.

Mr. Stanford has assurance of the united backing of the Chamber of Commerce there in the project.

PARTY AT KNITTING MILL.
W. H. Belfield, Retiring Manager. Presented With Lure of Gold.

The change in management of the local plant of the Gloversville Knitting company, recently noted in these columns, was observed by the employees last night with a dinner and dance at the factory on Main street.
About 100 of the workers were present at the affair, which was given in honor of the retiring manager, Wilhelm H. Belfield, but which also giving as a welcome to Albert Lamb of Gloversville, the new manager.

The dinner was a delicious repast and was served in an appropriately decorated dining hall. Following the meal, there was a brief program, during which Mr. Lamb, on behalf of those assembled, presented Mr. Belfield with a purse of gold and voiced the regret that all the employees felt in his departure, and hoped that the future would have much in store for him.

Mr. Belfield responded with a few well-chosen words and said that he would always remember his pleasant stay with the Gloversville plant in Oneonta. He expects to remain in this city for the present. The remainder of the evening was passed with dancing, music for which was furnished by a violin and harp, and at a late hour the happy party broke up after a most enjoyable evening.

BIG THROG OF SHOPPERS

DOLLAR DAY CALLS OUT MANY WHO ARE ATTRACTED
BY OFFERINGS.

Merchants Express Themselves Well Satisfied with Sales—Customers Find Best Bargains of Season Offered.

"Dollar Day" in Oneonta proved another successful merchandising event at those stores which grasped the opportunity it afforded to make satisfied customers and more goods that were no longer wanted to place. Many of the merchants offered extraordinary bargains, while those who failed to cooperate doubtless received little benefit except the general impetus that all business felt.

The "Dollar Day" offerings became effective with the opening of the stores and there was a conspicuously large number of shoppers abroad during the early hours of the morning. In a few instances some specially attractive offerings were quickly absorbed and late shoppers were disappointed. It might be well on other events of a similar character to place only a portion of certain goods on sale at each two or three hour periods, thus giving later shoppers a chance.

The trolley company sold upwards of 200 tickets from 7 o'clock on the line on the special offering of a round trip ticket good for the day only at a fare and half. The bus lines brought in a goodly number of shoppers, as did also the steam roads. Quite probably the largest number came with their own motor cars, the streets being well lined with cars practically the entire day.

Merchants quite generally carried out the spirit and plan in one instance when certain goods advertised became exhausted a merchant pulled down more expensive qualities of the same kind and kept all comers supplied, although at a decided loss. Novelty proposals were perhaps not as numerous as on former occasions, but the staple articles at reduced prices attracted and the aggregate sales in many of the places visited exceeded those of other Dollar Days. The success of the day will aid in attracting more people when another day is announced.

19TH ANNUAL BANQUET TONIGHT
Of Barocas and Philatheas of the First Baptist Church.

Tonight the Barocas and Philatheas of the First Baptist Church will hold their nineteenth annual banquet in the dining room of the church. The dinner will be served at 7 o'clock. The committee has arranged an appetizing menu and a fine program, and with confidence assure an evening of rare enjoyment to all.

Dr. Farley is first on the list of speakers and he will respond to Our Barocas and Philatheas. Folliations.
The second speaker will be Rev. M. E.
VanNostrand, D. D., pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church at Albany. His subject will be "Picking Up Socks."

Dr. VanNostrand is a speaker of exceptional ability and there is a treat in store for all who hear him.

A quartet composed of Miss Josephine Lauren, Miss Minnie Pass, Mrs.
Jerry Wilson and Mrs. Charles W. Collins, accompanied by Mrs. David H.
Mills will sing. Byron H. Chesboro will add to the evening's pleasure by a solo and also will lead the community sing.
The attendance promises to be large.

In the eyes of all connoisseurs, the meal becomes a banquet when the desserts are flavored with Baker's certified extracts. At all grocers. 1w
